Our deepest sympathies and prayers go to David and Kelly Marklew on the tragic death of their beloved daughter Chelsea, this week, aged 21. May she rest in peace.

How can I ever thank you?" (4)

This is an extract from a book written over 60 years ago by the great theologian of the last century, Fr. Karl Rahner, who meditates on the Corpus Christi procession thus:

"We come now to the significance of the Eucharist. Certainly this sacrament reaches its full significance when it is received. Even when we keep it on our altars and when we carry it through the regions where we live, uplifted and in full sight, still it is always the food which we wholly make our own only when we eat it. Yet this sacrament is an enduring sacrament that can and should be preserved, shown and worshipped, just as in daily life we are ready to eat the food that we long for and that our eye sees. So what does all this tell us? It tells us that we are pilgrims on the earth. We have here no lasting dwelling place. We are a people who change, who are restlessly driven on through time and space, who are still seeking our real homeland and our everlasting rest. We are those who must allow themselves to be changed, because to be a member of the human race means to let oneself change and perfection means to have changed often. During all the time we call life, as we trudge along the streets of this earth, he is there, right behind us, pursuing us in the obstinacy of his love. He follows us even when we walk down a crooked path and lose our direction. He seeks the lost sheep even in the wilderness and he runs to meet the prodigal son. He walks with us on our pilgrimage of life, he who walked down all those streets himself, from birth to death. He therefore knows how we feel on this endless journey that is often so trackless. He is near at hand, visible and invisible, with the mercy of his heart, with the patient and full merciful experience of his whole human life. We carry the sacrament through the fields and wilderness of our life, and give testimony that as long as he goes with us we have with us the one who can make every way straight and purposeful."

"Adoremus" – a coach has been booked to take delegates to the event in Liverpool, leaving from Mother of God Church, New Parks' Boulevard on Saturday September 7 at 6.45am. If any of our delegates would like to go on the coach, please see Fr. Frank or Fr. Daniel immediately. There will be a meeting for all delegates in St. Peter's Priory on Wednesday August 29 at 7.00pm

September Celebrations – there will be a lot happening in September this year, when we mark the 25th anniversary of our church, the departure of Fr. Daniel and the arrival of Fr. Emmanuel. The anniversary will be marked at the SPANNED Mass on September 15 at 2.30pm with Bishop Patrick, and we will be having a meeting to plan catering for our visitors on Sunday September 2 at 5.30pm. Please do offer to help. There will be a farewell gathering for Fr. Daniel on Sunday September 16 at 6.00pm – shared table, but we could do with help making drinks – and a similar get-together to welcome Fr. Emmanuel the following Sunday

Still the Same People – A diocesan Day for people wishing to support those living with dementia and their carers. This will be held at Our Lady of Lourdes Parish Centre, Uttoxeter Road, Mickleover, Derby on Saturday October 6 from 11.00am-3.00pm. Please bring a packed lunch. for more details, contact Fr. Frank Auditions – our New Year production will take place in the Leo Kane Studio on Sunday September 23 from 2.00-4.00pm. Children from Year 4 upwards, young people and adults all welcome.

Congratulations to Margaret Tunnicliffe who was received into full communion with the Catholic Church this week.

Kumi Appeal - Many thanks to all.

Father Robert tells us that to date the total is £4,459.19. Thanks also to Fr. Robert for his presence among us in the last three weeks.

LOSS Group for single retired men meets on Thursday this week at 12.00pm to go for lunch. New members welcome.

Readers' Rota for the next few weeks will be available from next weekend.
